The Owls

You have shown your devotion to Hantei Okecheo, he has offered you a position as one of his Owls, a group of investigators whose job is to alert the Regent of activities that might threaten the peace or stability of Rokugan.

This position provides the following benefits:

If your status is below 2.5, your status becomes 2.5

You are not a magistrate, though you have the respect and advantages of someone of this status. You do not have any authority over other samurai unless told otherwise.

Travel papers that allow you to travel the Empire as you wish, though they do not cover your companions, and you may not issue papers on their behalf.

Should you ever displease Hantei Okecheo or his representatives, you may be released from this position, losing all of it's benefits and potentially facing other penalties as well.

You may not be a member of the Nightingales, and this cert replaces the Imperial Investigator Cert and Eyes of the Miya Cert.
